

TRACY BALBONI

Brief Bio: Tracy Balboni, MD, MPH holds degrees from Stanford University, Harvard Medical School and the Harvard School of Public Health and is board certified in both radiation oncology and palliative medicine. Dr. Balboni serves as Professor of Radiation Oncology at Harvard Medical School and as Program Director of the Harvard Radiation Oncology Program. She also co-leads the Initiative on Health, Religion, and Spirituality at Harvard. Dr. Balboni's primary research interests are located at the intersection of oncology, palliative care, and the role of spirituality in life-threatening illness.